FRANKSTON WOMEN CONNECT

You are invited to our next WomenConnect Frankston event, where you will have the opportunity to learn more about Nicky Johnston. Artist, teacher and mother, Nicky now has the title of Author & Illustrator to add to her list of accomplishments. Being a mother of three young boys and having worked in the primary school education sector for the past 15 years, Nicky was prompted to publish her first picture book for children dealing with anxiety "Go Away, Mr. Worry thoughts!"

With her eldest son being diagnosed with Generalised Anxiety Disorder (GAD) at just 5 years of age and finding very few children's books available for young children with anxiety, Nicky embarked on the journey of self-publishing. Since launching her book she has not only greatly helped her own son, but thousands of young children struggling to manage and overcome their own anxiety.

An experienced teacher, Nicky is currently employed by RACV as a Traffic Safety Educator, teaching primary school children the many aspects of road safety. Nicky is also an accomplished artist and professional make-up artist.
